

GNFC COLD-WEATHER TRAINING TEAM

The Boy Scouts of America defines "Cold Weather" camping as any extended outdoor activity that occurs when the forecasted high temperature of the day is not expected to exceed 50°F. Is your Unit properly prepared with the necessary knowledge, skills, and equipment to run an enjoyable and safe program in these conditions?

Using the curricula developed by BSA, NOLS, LNT, AMC and the GNFC Cold Weather Training Team our experienced instructors offer basic and advanced programs to assist you in developing a year-round outdoor program for your Troop or Crew.

OKPIK

OKPIK, the Inuit word for Snowy Owl, is BSA's High-Adventure Cold-weather training program. OKPIK builds on the basic information presented in the Cold Weather Training program. Through additional classroom sessions and real winter camping experience, participants strengthen their knowledge base and develop skills through hands-on activities. Trained and experienced instructors deliver the classroom program and serve as guides during the field. OKPIK is delivered annually and includes an evening classroom session followed by a weekend field practical.

The GNFC OKPIK Program is open to:

- All BSA-registered adults
- BSA-registered Scouts (<18) and Venturers (<21) providing that the unit or individual provide either:
 - 2-deep unit leadership as per BSA standards, OR
 - A chaperone by parent/guardian who is BSA registered and participating in the course.
- In all cases participants are required to have the appropriate training, experience, and maturity to conduct and care for themselves in a high-adventure setting.
- The Cold-weather Training Team recommends a minimum age of 16 for all course participants. Please consult the Course Director if you have additional questions or concerns.
- COLD-WEATHER TRAINING is a pre-requisite to attending OKPIK.

OKPIK has two aims. One is to train the individual to be able to enjoy the outdoors and a camping experience in cold weather (and let's face it, it's not always warm and dry when Scouters camp).

The second aim is to “train the trainer”. We want to train Scout leaders and experienced Scouts in the unique skills of cold weather camping so that they can take the knowledge and skills they have learned on the course and bring them back to their units. We want to see all Scout units extend their camping season to all 12 months of the year.

Becoming OKPIK-trained is more than just taking a course; graduation carries with it the responsibility of taking the training back to your unit.
